the key to their mental health

NATIONAL DEPRESSION SCREENING DAY[®]
The key to recognition and treatment

For 18 years, Screening for Mental Health's National Depression Screening Day® (NDS) has offered health care providers evidence-based, affordable and easy-to-use mental health education and screening resources. Reaching community members with undetected and untreated mental disorders has never been more important. Studies show that most Americans wait years before they seek treatment for a mental health disorder, and many never seek treatment at all.

NDS helps you:

- Screen and educate for depression, posttraumatic stress disorder (PTSD), bipolar disorder, and generalized anxiety disorder
- Market your services to community members
- Educate clinicians about best practices for assessment and treatment
- Refer those in need of treatment to mental health services

New This Year!!!

- NDS Support Team: NDS staff will provide individualized phone/email assistance around planning and promoting your event
- Web-based training: An online and telephone "best practices" seminar for all NDS site coordinators

"Our NDS event coincided with our annual hospital wellness event and received excellent exposure."

Whether it's October 10th or any day you choose, make NDSD your own

Choose the program option(s) that best fits your budget, staffing and schedule: a one day, in-person screening event, and/or year-round online screening.

Online Screening - Year-round through your website

Your organization can customize the online module with an organization branded welcome message and referral sources. Track utilization of your online screening through real-time reports of aggregate screening and demographic data.

In-Person Screening Events

NDSD is implemented at the community level by health care, social service, government, faith-based, and advocacy organizations, often working in partnership with businesses and community groups.

The NDSD office provides:

- A kit of screening and educational materials
- Event promotion materials, guidelines, and templates
- Local and national media campaigns to increase attendance at events

Your organization provides:

- Clinicians and administrative staff to run the event
- A physical location for the event (A high-visibility community location)
- Event promotion in your local community
- A brief and free consultation with a clinician for participants during the event
